

BRECKENRIDGE DINING AND COCKTAIL GUIDE

A hungry stomach is something we can all relate to at one time or another, especially after an active day in the mountains. One of the most common questions asked around Breckenridge is “Where’s a great place to eat?” Truth is, Breckenridge has a diverse and unique dining scene making it impossible for us to pick just one, but we can help you narrow it down.

Breckenridge restaurants include many long-time, beloved staples (one with the longest operating liquor license west of the Mississippi) as well as 20 new establishments that have opened their doors just in the past two years. Our comprehensive Breckenridge Dining Guide lists all of the breakfast, lunch and dinner restaurants as well as the bars, wineries and cozy coffee/pastry/dessert shops around town. You are certain to find the perfect spot to satisfy all foodies in your group, even the finicky ones.

There is something for every taste and mood with a wide variety of cuisines and atmospheres, whether a quick hunger crushing bite on the go or a special occasion multi-course meal. Most Breckenridge restaurants are family friendly. Some have glorious views of the Ten Mile Range. You’ll also find a variety of happy hour specials, year-round heated patios or just the right spot for apres with friends next to a cozy outdoor fire while sipping a warm beverage.

If sun and snow has you tuckered out, almost all Breckenridge restaurants offer takeout for your favorite foods and brews, with about a dozen offering delivery through Warrior Express.

For the best dining experience, we recommend calling ahead to check availability for reservations.
